

APRIL, 2021

AGO's Portraits of Resilience is an open call for artists of all ages to participate in an online exhibition of artworks showcasing moments of emotion and resilience in everyday life.

Louvre's virtual tours

Visit the museum rooms and galleries, admire the palace architecture and enjoy the views!

Virtual Art Hive@Agnes

Art Hive is a creative community that draws upon the innately therapeutic nature of art making. Make time for yourself to recharge and get inspired! Art Hive invites you to experiment and play as you explore the artistic process. This series of class will start on May 6th-June 24th

Online Waddingtons auction and gallery of Birds of Arctic

The Arctic is home to approximately 200 species of birds. Their return to the region in the spring is a major seasonal milestone and serves as the inspiration for this auction. A favourite subject for Inuit artists, look for avian-themed sculptures and works on paper by Kananginak Pootoogook, Latcholassie Akesuk, Abraham Etungat, Kenojuak Ashevak, Lucy Qinnuayuak, and others.

Virtual Talk: Michael Fernandes with Jason St-Laurent

April 14, 2021 at 5pm EST Presentation in English — FREE Over the course of an “at home” residency that spanned the months of January through March 2021, the artist Michael Fernandes has been sharing his daily thoughts in the form of images and short texts on his Instagram platform.

This Being Human podcast at Aga Khan Museum

This Human Being is an arts and culture podcast devoted to amplifying the voices of leaders redefining what it means to be Muslim in today’s world. Through expert storytelling and thoughtfully cast interviews, the series aims to break down stereotypes, highlight connections between cultures, and uncover new insights on the human condition.

The Japan Foundation Presents 11 Stories on Distanced Relationships: Contemporary Art from Japan

March 31 – May 5, 2021 Toronto, ON – The Japan Foundation is proud to present the free online exhibition, 11 Stories on Distanced Relationships: Contemporary Art from Japan, with the aim to promote new forms of artistic exchange during the global COVID-19 pandemic.

i.FEED (Find the Energy Every Day) Project

By artist and arts educator Connie Tong i FEED is a participatory visual arts project that invites community members to reflect on their own self care practices and experiences of supporting mental health. This project encourages community members to find what gives them inspiration each day to live through the pandemic and allows them to communicate with one another.