

HOW DOES THE VACCINE HELP AGAINST VARIANTS?

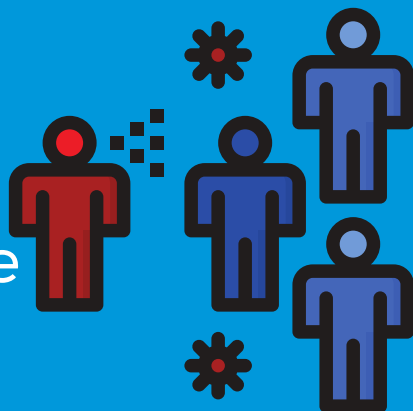

The same vaccines are being used successfully in other countries with variants.

Vaccines offer protection even when the virus changes.

The protection provided by vaccines is important since variants can spread more easily.

The use of booster doses may be used in the future for specific variants.

